

CINEMAS, ARCADES AND MORE:

IATF allows more businesses to reopen in GCQ areas

The IATF has authorized "the reopening and further expansion" of the following industries in areas under general community quarantine or GCQ, said Palace spokesman Harry Roque.

Driving schools

Libraries, archives, museums, cultural centers

Traditional cinemas

Meetings, incentives, conferences and exhibitions

Video and interactive-game arcades

Limited social events at credited establishments of the Department of Tourism

Limited tourist attractions, such as parks, theme parks, natural sites and historical landmarks

This will be subject to "implementing guidelines which will provide for the operational capacity, and oversight of the appropriate regulatory agency and the concerned local government units where these businesses/industries are located," Roque said in a statement.
